"I came across Phoenix Academy due to their English for Academic Purposes (EAP) pathway to university program and decided this would be the best way to prepare myself to study an Undergraduate course in International Relations abroad. I was recommended to study 4 months of English preparation before I would be ready to take on University. In those 4 months I noticed a big improvement in my English skills, particularly with my report writing as well as my speaking skills and I am now very good at using linking words! One thing that really helped me improve quickly was that there were no Japanese students in my class or in my cohort of EAP students, this forced me to always speak in English and I have made a lot of new friends from China, Vietnam and India, some of which will be joining me at Murdoch University in the near future."

"I felt well prepared for my studies at Murdoch University and my professors agreed! I got 'credit' for my first essay for tourism, and 'distinction' for the next essay for Asian studies."
